"Are you on friendly terms with Patty Jones?"
"No, I am not intimate with him, but we were thrown into each other's society a great deal at the skating rink."

Not Suited Either Way.
[Kentucky State Journal.]
"See here, Robinson, I hear that you are dishing with my wife!"
"Flirting with your wife! I am neither dishing with her nor want to do so. I don't like her well enough for that."

"You don't like her well enough for that?"
"You don't like her well enough for that?"
"You don't like her well enough for that?"

The Infantile Match-Maker.
[New York Mercury.]
"Good evening, Tommy. Is your sister Clara at home?"
"Yes, sir; she's out in the kitchen popping corn for you."

Winter Sports in Canada.
[Life.]

Depending on His Mean Neighbor.
[Detroit Free Press.]
"There are some awfully mean men in this city, and don't you forget it!" he said, as he got a fresh brace for his back against the dead wall.

"Anybody been swindling you?"
"Amounts to the same thing. The man next door to me didn't look out for his water pipes when the cold snap came on, and the result was a freeze-up which has lasted two weeks."

The Day After His Birthday.
[Philadelphia Call.]
The day after: Paragon—"You exchange goods in the way of barter sometimes, I suppose."
"reahant—"Take trade for them! O, yes; very often."

The Place to Sit When Married.
[New York Mercury.]
A countryman and his bride applied at the box office for tickets.
"Orchestra chairs, parquette or family circle?" asked the ticket seller.

When He Gave Night the Job.
[Rohit J. Burdette.]
Young man, you must do your best and hardest work now. When you get fifty dollars a line for your poetry, my boy, as Mr. Tennyson does, then you can afford to write as poor poetry as Mr. Tennyson does.

The Genesis of Nye. [Somerset Reporter.]

BILL NYE'S WINTER RESORT.
Hudson, Wis., Dec. 31, 1884.

A copy of The Reporter has been sent me recently with the following paragraph marked: WHERE WAS "BILL" NYE BORN?

Maine has again and again proved that this is the place to raise men and women, and the crop by no means diminishes. Edgar W. Nye, commonly known as "Bill," says he was born in Skowhegan in 1850. Who can tell us of his parentage?

As the item closes with a query, I will state for the benefit of the curious, that Bill Nye was born in Maine, in 1850, though not in Skowhegan. As near as I am able to learn from my parents, who happened to be present on that solemn occasion, I was born in the village of Shirley, in Piscataquis county.

My father's name was Franklin Nye, a man for whom I have always entertained the highest regard. Many is the time he has gone out of his way to do me a favor.

My mother's maiden name was Eliza M. Doring. These historical facts of course, are of no interest to the general public, but I write this fully in order to relieve Skowhegan of an unjust imputation. If I ever said I was born in Skowhegan I did not do so maliciously.

It was a joke.
I would not write this letter were it not for my parents who are still living and in no way to blame. Whatever I may have been, I hope their names will not be in any way mixed up with it.

Wishing you a happy new year, and hoping that Mr. Blaine is doing as well as could be expected. I am sincerely yours,
EDGAR WILSON NYE (Bill Nye).

President of Sororists.

"JENNY JUNE," MRS. J. C. CROLY.
The name of "Jenny June," otherwise Mrs. J. C. Croly, of New York, is known to more newspaper readers than that of any other woman writer in this country. Practically she pioneered the way for woman in journalism. Some 30 years ago she wrote a note one day to a New York editor, asking him why it was that of all the mass of matter which went into newspapers there was nothing printed of any particular interest to women, who constitute half the race. The result was that shortly after this the lady herself was engaged by the editor to write something for his paper that should be of interest to women.

She began the task, and has been at it ever since. Jenny June is an indefatigable worker. Her weekly letters have made her writings familiar wherever newspapers are read. For years she contributed besides these a letter each Sunday to the New York World. She is the author of a number of excellent books. Moreover, she has been the associate editor of Demorest's Monthly from the time the first copy appeared, 24 years ago. Not more than two or three newspaper men in the country have written as large a quantity of matter for the press as Mrs. Croly has done.

She is extremely popular among her own sex, and her sympathy with them amounts to enthusiasm. As an organizer, a promoter of the cause of woman, she is without an equal. She was the founder of the Sororists Club, and has been its honored president for many years. She originated the idea of the Woman's congress, since become so popular. Besides the literary gifts that have made her famous, she possesses a fine tact and kindness of nature that are as rare as the other.

In personal appearance, Jenny June shows no trace of the life of labor she has led. Her rich brown hair, softly tinted complexion, and slender, erect figure, give her a look of eternal youthfulness. Her face is full of purity and sweetness. She is a native of Leicestershire, England, but came to America in childhood.

Editor of the London World.

EDMUND YATES.
The imprisonment of Edmund Yates in a British jail for a term of four months, for allowing a libelous article to appear in his paper, The London World, has attracted universal attention. Mr. Yates made a tour of this country in 1873, and later was the London correspondent of a New York daily. He is best known as a novelist. In 1874 he established The World, "a journal for men and women," which has had a most extraordinary success. The fearless style he adopted in his paper has brought him into trouble before, but this is his most humiliating experience. He edits his paper from the prison, and the day after his incarceration sold 30,000 extra copies of it.
